

ADVENTUROUS

Synonyms: courageous, bold, daring, nonconformist

Adventurous and bold, you seek and generate excitement. You are always on the lookout for the next adventure and want the freedom to be able to take off on a moment's notice. A sense of expediency allows you to use whatever resources are handy at the moment.

With his nerves of steel, plus self-discipline, this type of person could be a test pilot, stuntman, or skydiver.

It is difficult for her to persist in routine work that does not present constant new challenges.

Living by other peoples' standards doesn't interest you in the least. You don't mind bending or even breaking the rules.

You are quite comfortable living to your own code of values and principles, even though they may not always be generally acceptable to the rest of society.

You are a risk-taker of the first degree. Sitting in front of a television set or reading a book would be like being in prison to you. You need to be out there, experiencing, doing, having an effect on the world.

You don't give a lot of thought to the needs of others, but expect everyone to take care of themselves, as you do.

Intense, passionate, fervent in everything you undertake, you need to experience powerful emotions to make you feel alive.

Rooted in the present, he wants to be ready for action. The moment the next adventure presents itself, he'll be gone.

Don't expect this guy to bind himself to a 9-5 routine. He is more the entrepreneurial type, the fix-it man whose talents lie in making quick hits, then moving on.

You can expect this type of person to be generous to the point of extravagance. "Easy come, easy go," is his philosophy about money. While he has it, he loves to throw it around. In the lean times, he just knows it will show up when he needs it.

The natural explorer, this individual enjoys being on the go. He is the type who may want to roam the world, lighting here and there when the fancy takes him, then moving on.

Reacting and responding to your impulses of the moment, you have a non-conforming, laissez-faire attitude.

Because your impulse control is lower than average you will have to be especially careful not to allow your momentary whims to take you down paths that lead to trouble.

You don't plan very far ahead, but do what feels good at the moment.

Easily bored, you will soon move on when work fails to provide new challenges.

This is not the type of person who is likely to stay in a long-term committed relationship. She wants to be free of attachments and while she can be passionately involved, when she begins to feel the ties that bind, restlessness sets in.

Bold and unafraid, she rejects the possibility of failure and plunges into uncharted territory without a second thought.