“Two poor, freezing, ragged chimney sweeps are warming themselves by a fire”

Plate III

(Zulliger 1941, p. 62)

“...the ability to experience enthusiasm and ecstasy.” Creative exaltation both good and bad is suggested.

“Karen Horney appropriately put it, the extreme manifestation of the ‘Dionysic’ (Nietzsche) to absorb and merge with G_d, the world, nature, or the State (as a substitute for religion), all into one greater unity. The tendency is also called ‘losing oneself’ (Horney, 1937).”
