

Nature

....isolates themselves from critics and competitors.

....withdraws from confrontations.

....does not want to look bad.

....has a superficial understanding of social relations.

....lets people down who expect more from them than they are capable of delivering.

(Piotrowski 1979, p. 352)