Alberto A. Peralta
Rorschach Thesis

Table of Contents

Dedication		III
Acknowledgments		IV
I.	Introduction	1
	A) Theoretical introduction	2
	B) Scientific methodology	4
II.	A critical review of the works on the theory of the Rorschach	8
	A) Empiricism?	8
	B) The psychoanalytic approaches	21
	1. The German-language Swiss tradition	22
	2. The U.S.A. English-speaking movement	26
	3. The Spanish/Latin-American current	39
	4. The French school	46
	5. The Italian authors	53
	C) The phenomenological-existential approaches	62
	D) Gertrude Dworetzki and the genetic-perceptual approach	107
	E) The Gestalt or Experimental Psychology approach	130
	F) The Jungian Complex approach	160
III.	To introduce the structural problem of Perceptanalysis	205
	A) Methodological preambles	205
	1. Systems and theory	205
	2. The hermeneutical validation	224
	B) Hermann Rorschach on theory	232
	1. His originality and its relationship to Psychoanalysis	232
	2. Nature of his test	246
	C) Pathoanalytic points of reference	264
	1. A “projective” technique	264
	2. The Louvain School and structure in *Schicksals*analysis	272
	D) Our original contribution	280
	1. Zulliger the intuitive heir	280
	2. Systematization: a definitive breakthrough in Rorschach theory	287
IV.	Demonstrative cases	330
	A) An original Hermann Rorschach protocol evaluation (unpublished)	330

B) The Adolf Eichmann disputed case: a solution 352
1. The Rorschach 355
2. The Szondi 375
3. The TAT 389
4. The Bender-Gestalt 398

C) "To be or not to be": antithetical representatives of both poles 402
1. A social transformator 403
2. "Jack the ripper" 409

V. Conclusion 417

VI. Bibliography 420

Résumé (en Français) 459

Appendix (Rorschach psychograms) 466

To my son Leo Núñez (1973-2001) with the same dedication, care, and perfectionism he invested in his own work; a true artist who, just as fireworks do, quickly soared and expressed himself in a spectacular burst of color and resounding success albeit, alas, for so short a time. So much like Hermann Rorschach!

Acknowledgments

Many individuals, not all of them mentioned here, should deserve recognition for their unselfish readiness to assist us during the very long years this Thesis was in arduous preparation. The most significant among them are:

First of all Reina Fontana and Ramón Blandino, unvaluable helpers in the task of collecting literature. Without their help no way this work could have been done.

Then Elizabeth Núñez who has helped us with so many different, not always minor tasks hard to enumerate.

The always patient Mrs. Christa de Mella who very generously and efficiently assisted us with the German translations.

Our friend Huberto Bogaert who has been all along our stimulating "coach" and first reader, offering helpful suggestions about the manuscript.

Our former student and proud colleague Ramaris Zapata who gave us her key assistance while we were far away from Belgium, above all in the final technical tasks.

Our entire family for supporting about 10 years of partial, undeserved neglect.

"Catuxo" for the friendly authorization to reproduce his test material.

The entire rest of anonymous helpers.

The Huber-Hogrefe Verlag for the kind authorization to reproduce the Rorschach and Zulliger Tests material.

A great many thanks to all!

(Our able Professors and scientific models-guides are recognized in the text itself).

Alberto A. PERALTA