

Clinical Scale Elevations

Scale(s) 5 (Mf)

Male T-score # 45

Elevations on the present Scale(s), taking race, gender, age, education, marital and employment status into consideration for the corresponding group's data, indicate any or all of these clinical features could be present in this person's behavior and history:

He is practical, easy-going, earthy, and interested in sports, hunting, fishing technical employment. His attitudes are typically masculine in nature. He admires physical strength and agility. His humor is basic, coarse and often vulgar. He keeps a lid of his humorous impulses and is mindful of the company in which he finds himself.